Newsletter December 2019— January 2020

'See, I am doing a new thing! Now it springs up; do you not perceive it? I am making a way in the wilderness and streams in the wasteland.'

Isaiah 43:19

Christmas is approaching! Though, I probably don't need to remind you of that fact. It's a busy time of year with many, often competing demands on our time. Every year I approach this season with a hope and often a willingness to slow down the pace, to savour the moments, reflect genuinely on what this is actually all about and enjoy the 'festive season'. In reality, I can't remember a time when I have managed all this. Instead, I find myself getting stressed about writing that umpteenth Christmas card, buying that other gift or finishing off those hand made presents and decorating that Christmas cake... my heart was willing in the beginning but as Christmas Day draws near my life feels stifled by the busyness of the season. Perhaps you can relate?

Recently I've been reflecting on the verse above. It was a word given to Isaiah the prophet to the Jewish people who were in exile in Babylon. It is a word of hope in a stressful and exhausting place. It is a word that has resonated with me in the past and resonates with me still as my family and I embark on new adventures early in the new year. The verse also speaks of God's unending pursuit of us with his love... desperately wanting us to see His goodness and peace and joy and hope in the multitude of stresses and challenges our lives present. It was also a prophetic word about Jesus' purpose during his time on earth. In the brutality that was the Roman Empire, Jesus preached peace. When a Roman could force you to carry his pack a mile, Jesus encouraged his followers to carry it two. In a society that was very much 'an eye for an eye' Jesus preached turning the other cheek. He was counter cultural and as I read his words, I think he still is. The path to peace is not easy. It requires us to make active choices along the way. God desperately wants us to experience His peace, joy and hope but He also wants us to actively seek it. And so with that in mind, I think it's time I review my Christmas to do list.

With love and blessings, Andrea.

PS This is my last newsletter. It has been a blessing and privilege serving the communities of Cherry Burton and Etton in this way. I wish you and your families every blessing over the Christmas season and in 2020. May you discover and know God's immense peace and love.
